

Anti-Trust Law Probe Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contending the Supreme Court's decision exempting baseball has created a loophole in anti-trust laws, Rep. Celler (D-NY) wants Congress to review the entire situation.

The Supreme Court's finding in the baseball case has been extended by lower courts to boxing and the theater, he said, and there is no way of knowing "to what lengths these decisions may go."

To curb them, he has introduced a bill which he said would make the anti-trust laws, with their prohibition against monopoly, apply to all forms of interstate commerce, including the theater business, boxing, television, radio, baseball and other entertainment, unless specifically exempted by law.

Celler told newsmen Sunday that the Supreme Court's decision exempting baseball from monopoly charges as the implied intent of Congress was "factually incorrect."

The high court said last Nov. 9 that organized baseball was "not within the scope of the federal anti-trust laws" and observed that Congress had not seen fit to apply the law to baseball in the 31 years since the court had previously ruled on the subject.

But Celler questioned the significance of Congress' failure to act.

"Congress has had numerous proposals before it in prior sessions which would have specifically exempted baseball from the anti-trust laws," he said. "But in every instance, Congress saw fit not to act."

Missing Girl Now Back With Parents

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Darlene Steinhauer, 16-year-old "Wiggle" girl, who said she left home because she was "dissatisfied," was en route back to Colorado Sunday with her parents.

The Dodge County sheriff's office said Darlene was picked up Saturday night by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Steinhauer.

Darlene was located at Blair Friday by Washington County Deputy Sheriff Claude Clements, ending a three-state search that began with her reported disappearance Feb. 13.

She was quoted by Clements as saying she left home because she was "dissatisfied" and her "father wouldn't let her have dates."

Darlene was taken from Blair to Fremont, where Washington County does not have a police station. She was in custody of Mrs. Pelham McGee, Matron of Dodge County and wife of the County Sheriff, until turned over to her parents.

Former Americans Get Suits From Reds

This photograph, received from Communist news men Wilfred Burchett, purports to show some of the former American prisoners of the Reds who refused repatriation and returned to Communist North Korea, as they received civilian suits in a shop. The United States has given the men dishonorable discharges from the Army. The town they were visiting was not designated and no names were given those in the picture. (AP Wirephoto Sunday Night.)

Basement Brew Booms—It's Sassafras Tea

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Spiralling coffee prices have boomed the sassafras tea business.

Charles Muench, a 28-year-old chemist who claims to be the only person in the United States manufacturing sassafras concentrate for sassafras tea, reports sales have quadrupled within the last month.

Muench was producing the tea without any notable results for about a year when coffee prices suddenly began to soar and people became more tea-conscious.

Muench readily concedes that sassafras has no immediate chance of becoming America's national drink. Nevertheless, Muench reports he has been shipping up to 100 dozen little jugs of his concentrate daily.

Not bad for a fellow who a short time ago got together with a friend and invested $200 in some materials and gadgets and began mixing things in his parents' basement.

That was shortly after Muench obtained his chemistry degree at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo.

British Shipping Moguls Complain Of U.S. 'Shadows'

LONDON, (AP)—British shipowners accused the United States Sunday of slapping "almost incredible" restrictions on British merchant ships trading to Far Eastern Communist ports.

They said U.S. authorities had detailed naval cutters to "shadow" these ships from one American port to another. The powerful Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, a private association, complained that British ships were subjected to interference by a friendly power and singled out particularly for criticism Sen. McCarthy (R-N.Y.).

The accusations were made in the chamber's report which will be put before the annual meeting next Thursday. It gave no details of the "shadowing."

Manion Disputes Thornton's Charge Of 'Too Little Time'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clarence E. Manion insisted tonight that his vigorous support of the Bricker amendment to limit treaty powers "triggered" his ouster as chairman of President Eisenhower's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Interviewed on television (NBC's "Meet the Press"), Manion disputed a statement by Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, a commission member, that he didn't think the Bricker amendment had anything to do with Manion's forced resignation.

Thornton, a Republican, had said the real reason Manion was removed was because he "did not have time to devote to the job."

New Twist! Free Car With Television Set

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A Boise furniture store Sunday started giving a used car free with each television set purchased. It's a one-week-only promotion, store owner Mel Foster says, and adds:

"I figured that if they could give TV sets with cars, I could reverse it."

The cars are 1946 models or older, with buyers given a choice from one of five groups, depending on the price of the TV set he buys.

California Church Refuses To Sign State Loyalty Oath

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The congregation of the First Unitarian Church voted Sunday against signing a loyalty oath, required by state law of all non-profit organizations seeking property tax exemptions.

However, the chairman of the church board of trustees, Robert Schmorleitz, said that the tax exemption would be applied for anyway, and that the constitutionality of the state law will be tested in court.

The trustees have said they regard the loyalty declaration to be contrary to freedom of religion and to individual liberty.

The church pastor is the Rev. Stephen H. Fritchman who has been listed by the House Un-American Activities Committee as a sponsor of "no less than 22 pro-Soviet organizations." Fritchman refused to testify before the committee, denouncing it as "seeking to invade the intimate confidence of the confessional."

He advocated salaries of from $50,000 to $75,000 a year for school superintendents; $20,000 to $30,000 a year for principals and starting salaries for teachers of from $5,000 to $10,000.

Won't Resign

TOKYO (Monday) (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, faced with charges that members of his cabinet participated in 51 five million yen "sex parties," said that they would not resign.

Train To Carry Water To Olathe

OLATHE, Kan., (AP)—A trainload of water will move into Olathe in the morning from Kansas City to serve the 8,000 persons who use 300,000 gallons a day in this area.

The 30-car train will make daily trips at a cost of $594 a day for water and hauling.

Olathe is nearly out of water. Its reservoir normally covers 58 acres and now is down to about two acres, with the water level below the intake pipes. The reservoir is fed by Cedar Creek, which is dry.

The recent rains, totaling 1½ inches, added no water to the lake. Water Commissioner Fred Miller said a six-inch rain would be needed to fill the lake.

Work Starts On New Hebron Church

...Tornado Replacement

Lincoln Star Special
HEBRON, Neb.—Construction of the new Hebron Christian Church building is expected to begin here this week, the Rev. E. E. Bridwell, pastor, said Sunday.
The church's former structure, built 66 years ago, was destroyed in the 1953 tornado. The congregation has been meeting in the Presbyterian Church here since that time.
Ground breaking ceremonies were held Sunday. The new church will occupy the old site. Approximately 120 persons attended the service.
Ralph Dyer, chairman of the building committee, was the principal speaker. Taking part in the actual ground breaking were Ed Corliss, chairman of the church board, Mrs. J. M. Bryan, a member of the church since 1894, Miss Celia Fulton, a member since 1896, Mrs. Gertrude Palmer, Christian Women's Fellowship president, Bob Corliss, Sunday School superintendent, and Bob Hindman, Christian Youth Fellowship president.
Cost of the structure is estimated at $83,000 and the work will be done by a Lincoln contractor.
The Hebron Christian Church has a membership of 300.

Legion Head Sees Need To 'Revive Our Faith'

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—Arthur J. Connell, national commander of the American Legion, said Sunday he was convinced "the time has come when our hope for peace lies in our spiritual resources."
Addressing the Mid-Winter Conference of the Nebraska Department, Connell discussed the Legion's "Back to God Program."
"We must revive our faith," he said. "We must recapture the spirit of worship that was spoken in the Declaration of Independence."
"It is not enough to say that God is on our side," he went on. "We should rather that we are on his side and thus entitled to his protection."
Connell, of Middletown, Conn., noted that the American Legion is "historically" opposed to Communism and had opposed the recognition of Soviet Russia during the Roosevelt administration.
"The Communists have done a clever job of selling the idea that they are entitled to rights under our Constitution," he said. "It was never intended that the Constitution should be used to benefit those that would destroy it."
Discussing the Legion's criticisms of Veterans Hospital programs, Connell said.
Connell was introduced by Clark O'Hanlon of Blair, Nebraska, department Commander.
Although attendance was cut somewhat by bad weather in part of the state, Legion officials said about 500 had registered Sunday.
The annual Legion stag fees was scheduled for Sunday night. The conference will wind up Monday with a child welfare school.

The wooden replica of a three-layer cake will be lighted by imitation candles in recognition of the 100-year anniversary being observed by the city this year. The cake will stand on the lawn of the Oboe County Courthouse. (Star Staff Photo.)

Regents Award Armory Contract

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Sunday recommended that the contract for construction of the ROTC Armory be awarded to the George Cook Construction Co. of Lincoln.
Cook's bid of $46,588 was the lowest of 11 submitted.
The armory will be constructed on the College of Agriculture campus, adjacent to and directly east of the new General John J. Pershing Armory. It will house officers, instructors and equipment for artillery units which train on the campus, along with equipment of the Navy and Air Science departments.
Early construction is hoped to permit an early start on remodeling of the present Motor Truck Laboratory which will house the Poultry Husbandry Department.
The Regents also accepted the low bid of Pegler and Co. of Lincoln for kitchen equipment needed for the men's dormitories now under construction on the city campus. Pegler's bid of $79,628.10 was the lowest of six others submitted. The original estimate for the equipment was $100,000.
The Board rejected the offer of a Lincoln real estate firm to purchase the property which the University owns on 10th between T and U for $16,150. The area, directly west of the West Stadium, is now being used as a University parking area.
The members authorized the president to sign a notice of cancellation of the lease of the ten-

Recess Outlines Highway 281 Improvement

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—State Engineer L. N. Ress said here Sunday night that plans were made to widen and resurface Highway 281 south of Grand Island during the forthcoming biennium.
Ress took part in a radio panel discussion with members of the Hall County Safety Council. He added that a relocation of 281 from Doniphan north would be cheaper than widening the existing road. This would result in the present highway reverting to the county, he pointed out. It would then be used as a farm-to-market road and would be maintained by county funds.
Ress also said that if the resurfacing were accomplished it would naturally defer the relocation.

Plans for the building call for nine grade school rooms and a kindergarten room, two general classrooms for high school, a lunch room and kitchen, a home economics room, shop, gymnasium, commercial room, and office and library space.

Challenging His Leader

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont "was incensed" we were told in an editorial column appearing in a Lincoln evening newspaper, when Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis appeared before a Senate subcommittee on agriculture to testify against the so-called Watershed Bill introduced in the Senate by Mr. Aiken and in the House by Mr. Hope.

The Army Corps of Engineers, the writer of that column conceded, was not in love with the Hope-Aiken Bill, but the understanding was that the Corps should lie down and play dead—i.e., it would not appear before the proper Congressional committees to voice its criticisms.

Rep. Clifford Hope of Kansas, who served with us as a member of a Missouri Basin Survey Commission, was reputed to be in a frame of mind to complain to the White House about Gen. Sturgis' unseemly, unbecoming conduct in testifying against the Watershed Bill in its present form. We know Mr. Hope. After a year's association with him in this study, we had only the deepest admiration for him as a gentleman, legislator and most of all, as a man anxious for facts. Now if Mr. Hope is planning any protest against the testimony of Gen. Sturgis, it would come as a great surprise to us, contradictory to every impression we have of him. He is not the fool that a bit of unfortunate comment might lead thoughtful people to believe.

Any contact we have ever had with Mr. Hope leads us to believe that his only concern is to get at the facts—and all the facts. We have the notion that he would be the first to concede that one of the conditions written into his bill, limiting storage of the reservoirs created by dams built under its provisions to 5,000 acre feet, may be unrealistic. What happens when nature sees to it that the dam created a reservoir storing 5,500 acre feet?

Without betraying Mr. Hope's confidence, we recall that he inquired of us why it was that Central and Western Nebraska had gone so far ahead of Kansas in developing irrigation. You do not develop irrigation (excluding pumps) by reservoirs containing less than 5,000 acre feet on anything but a most limited, costly scale.

So Gen. Sturgis was challenging his commander-in-chief (President Eisenhower). He had slipped through the lines of the budget bureau, which is supposed, so we are told, to clear all new legislation for the White House, contacted a Congressional committee, and in honest, earnest, sincere spirit, had placed before the members of that committee his views on pending legislation of an extremely far-reaching character.

He had pointed out that in the ambitions of certain individuals still a third dam-constructing agency to combat floods was being brought into existence to pile on top of two already sprawling agencies. Now that may be President Eisenhower's special mission, but if it is, either he hasn't got all the facts, or he does not square with his announced intention to eliminate unnecessary waste and duplication of effort among the agencies back in Washington. Congress already and for long years has given the Corps of Engineers authorization to build dams on rivers in order to carry forward a flood-control program. The Bureau of Reclamation also has Congressional authorization to construct multiple-purpose dams in the 17 western states for the purpose of expanding irrigation, generating power and to serve other objectives.

The soil conservation program, cast in its true light, serving the noblest of objectives, does not need additional props to justify itself. The soil conservation program is everlastingly good. If it should in the future come upon evil days, then those who twist and magnify and blow up its accomplishments will be to blame for any reverse that it encounters.

Did Gen. Sturgis bypass the Budget Bureau, challenge his commander-in-chief, the President, violate an understanding that the Army Corps of Engineers, with honest, genuine doubts relative to some of the provisions of pending legislation, would offer no criticism to the bill? Feeling as it did, then its action might be interpreted as being a little more outrageous than challenging the commander-in-chief. It would be indifferent to the interests of the supreme commander of the commander-in-chief—the American people.

The fact is, Gen. Sturgis was before this committee on committee invitation. We have on the desk in front of us a copy of the statement Gen. Sturgis made to the committee.

Here is the precise wording of the first paragraph of that statement:

"I am appearing before you AT YOUR REQUEST to present the views of the Department of the Army on the 'Watershed Protection Bill' S. 2549, which is now under consideration by your committee."

The next paragraph of Gen. Sturgis' statement to the committee reads:

"The Secretary of the Army prepared a letter in response to the request of your chairman (Sen. Aiken) for comments on the bill, with particular reference to certain amendments tentatively made by this committee. I delivered that letter to Sen. Aiken last Friday. If agreeable with you, I would like to read the letter from the Secretary and amplify it by comment as I go along, and I will then be glad to furnish any further views or information you desire."

So Sen. Aiken was incensed! Rep. Hope was tearing his hair! Gen. Sturgis was challenging his commander-in-chief.

In all this discussion of freedom, of the great blessing of a free American press, of the right to know, there is one ingredient vital to the press in this country—no less vital than the right to know. That ingredient is truth.

The Women's View

Robert S. Bell, executive vice president of the Packard-Bell Co. of Los Angeles recently gave an address in Denver on politics and the national economy. He said there isn't going to be a depression.

Lots of others have debated that point, but it remained for Bell to introduce a piece of solid evidence no one else has mentioned. "There is not going to be a depression," said he. "The American housewife won't permit it. She has no intention of giving up her pretty house, her automatic washing machine, her television and her better way of life."

Bell probably said a mouthful. Political parties are not the prime rulers of a man's thinking. An aroused wife is much more formidable. Ask any husband. And poll takers needn't waste the time asking the voting home-makers how they would like an unemployed husband and a home stripped of its niceties and its modern appliances where children are short of clothing and possibly short of supper, too. Their answer is given before the question is asked.

Mr. Bell makes no pretense of being a politician, but national policy makers who are in that business would do well to listen attentively to what he has said.

Suspicion-Indecision Story In Indo-China

WASHINGTON — Here is a condensation of the inside story of what we are doing—or not doing—regarding Indo-China. It is a story of French suspicion coupled with American indecision, and the net result is likely to be loss of the richest tin and rubber area in the world to communism.

A lot of Americans walked because rubber was scarce in World War II, and a lot of others collected old cans and tooth-paste tubes because tin was scarce. Now the vital area which supplies these essentials is in just as much jeopardy during these days when Japan occupied Singapore.

Here are some of the chapters in the story:

Syngman Rhee offers to re-new War—President Syngman Rhee's offer to send one South Korean division to fight in Indo-China was only part of the messages which Gen. John E. Hull brought to the White House. Most important part of the message was that Korea wanted to assume the war in order to divert the Chinese military from the Indo-Chinese border.

Rhee proposed to Ike, through Gen. Hull, that South Korean troops do all the ground fighting if war was resumed. What he wanted was help from the U. S. Air Force and Navy. Rhee argued that seven Chinese divisions had been taken out of Korea, so he could easily track the new cement-and-steel Communist defense line.

Originally Rhee proposed going direct to the French with his idea, but Gen. Hull persuaded him to wait until Eisenhower himself had a chance to consider it.

President Eisenhower was not enthusiastic. The last thing he wants is to start the Korean war over again. It is recognized that the end of the Korean war made it possible for the Chinese to divert tremendous amounts of supplies to Indo-China, but Ike just doesn't want to get mixed up in Korea again anyway.

Mechanics to Indo-China—One trouble with U. S. policy regarding Indo-China is lack of co-ordination. One branch of the government doesn't know what the others are doing.

Admiral Radford, for instance, slipped in to see President Eisenhower by himself and arranged for the sending of 250 airplane mechanics to help the French. This was a vitally important decision. Yet the Cabinet didn't know about it, the National Security Council didn't know about it, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who are supposed to correlate these things, didn't know about it. Finally, Secretary of Defense Wilson, who is supposed to run the Defense Department, didn't know about it.

It was even a surprise to Gen. Nate Twining of the Air Force, who had to supply the 250 airplane mechanics for Indo-China.

Hit-and-miss policy—This free and-easy method of making decisions regarding the most vital battle area in the world continued after Congress began to raise cain about the 250 mechanics.

Sen. Saltonstall, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, phoned the White House and got Gen. "Slick" Persons on the phone.

"There ought to be a cut-off date for these mechanics in Indo-China," he said, explaining he wanted to assure senators that a date was fixed for the mechanics return to the United States.

"Maybe you're right," replied Persons, who handles White House liaison with Capitol Hill. "What date would you suggest?" He asked.

Sen. Saltonstall said he thought June might be a good cut-off date.

Gen. Persons agreed.

"All right, then we'll say June 15," he concluded.

Thus, in a completely casual manner, it was decided to bring the mechanics home on June 15. The Air Force was not consulted, the Cabinet was not consulted, the French were not consulted. All Gen. Persons did was phone the Pentagon and give orders for the mechanics to come home by June 15.

French Recalcitrance — Part of the administration's troubles in Indo-China, however, stems from French suspicion and reluctance. The French are worried sick that too much American co-operation will give the Chinese an excuse to pour troops across the border by the hundreds of thousands, as in Korea.

So far, Communist intervention has been confined chiefly to munitions and supplies. "That is why—up until last week—the French refused to let the United States participate in training native troops. U. S. military men have done a terrific job training Greek and later South Korean troops; have repeatedly urged the French to let us help them in Indo-China. But the French repeatedly turned us down."

Chang Kai-shek has also offered to send his army to Indo-China, but again the French say no. Nor do they want South Korean troops, for the same reason. They fear Red Chinese intervention.

The French have not even been willing to permit U. S. observers to check American military equipment at the front, where U. S. officials suspect a certain amount is sold on the black market or finds its way into the hands of the enemy.

CAPTAIN CARLSEN AGAIN

Kurt Carlsen, the heroic sea captain who refused to desert his sinking ship, the Flying Enterprise, during an Atlantic gale, sailed into Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, with his new ship, Flying Enterprise II, where he heard an American engineer had been seriously injured and needed blood transfusions. Carlsen called his crew together, announced he was offering his blood, and the entire crew followed suit. Only three of the crew had the right type of blood, but they took turns supplying the injured man transfusions for several days.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Some Consolations In Big Four Parley

BERLIN — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is already on the report which he will make to the American people covering the outcome of the Big Four foreign ministers meetings. This report probably will be made on a nationwide telecast next Wednesday night.

Secretary Dulles will claim two achievements out of the month of argument between the West and the Soviet Union. With an eye on both domestic politics and world reaction, Dulles will make much of the claim that definite advantages to the West can be counted in what has often seemed in news reports a long and fruitless bickering, with each side repeating over and over the old debating points.

First Dulles will claim that the complete transparency of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, as revealed in the talks, has brought France nearer to ratification of the European Defense Community treaty. It is on EDC, of course, that Dulles has based the policy of the Alliance with Western Europe. In December at the meeting of the NATO council in Paris he warned that if EDC was not ratified, an "agonizing reappraisal" of American foreign policy would be necessary. This produced considerable indignation and even resentment in France.

During the past week Dulles has received dispatches from top American diplomats in Paris which led him to believe that the French assembly will move to consider the EDC treaty shortly after the end of the Berlin conference. This assurance comes from Premier Joseph Laniel through the American charge d'affaires in Paris, Theodore Achille.

Premier Laniel did not go so far as to say that EDC would be ratified. No French politician, whether in or out of the government, could say that with any confidence. But the messages from Paris to Berlin did give Dulles and his associates reason to believe that at least the fate of EDC will not be subject to interminable delay.

There has been one threat—a permanent stall to avoid ratification or rejection. Another threat to the defense community on which America has pinned such hopes is that the treaty will be so loaded with amendments and reservations of one kind and another as passed by the French that it will not be acceptable to the Germans. There is no assurance that this will not be the case when the skeptics, who want to please the United States but are nevertheless fearful of Germany, get to work on the document.

The second claim Dulles will make in his report to the American public is that the conference solidified the West, ending the doubts and uncertainties about Russia's intentions, which have plagued the alliance for the past year. Certainly, the three Western foreign ministers have maintained a solid front here. Those who have carefully followed the conference from day to day point out that in a sense they had no choice in view of the granite facade presented by the never-yielding Molotov. The Russian position more or less forces the three westerners to stand together, since it has been almost literally true that they had no other choice.

How nearly the solidity in Berlin is reflected among people and parties in France and Britain is quite another question. Both the Americans and the British speak of Foreign Minister Bidault in praise almost extravagant in its terms. But Bidault, the hero in Berlin, is bound to be a somewhat lonely figure when he returns to Paris and the turmoil of French politics, with the ever-growing pressure to bring an end to the Indo-Chinese war.

While Dulles' position, on his return to Washington, will be nothing like as difficult, yet he, too, has powerful enemies in his own party who would like to see him out of the way. The natural tendency, therefore, will be to put the best-possible look on the four weeks of grim effort the American delegation has put into standing up to the dreary Soviet repetition of the line that has not changed especially since the double-talk of the Potsdam conference just as World War II ended.

So Dulles' report to the nation will in all likelihood be more optimistic than a sober evaluation would justify. He will be talking to an audience that has been led by hopeful statements from officials of the Eisenhower administration to believe that economy in the defense budget is possible because of a slackening in the cold war.

Planning Commission Efforts Futile

There are times — and last Monday was one of them—when Lincoln's City Council can do more in one day to essential city programs than all the good it can accomplish in a year.

The action it took in one case did little for its public relations and the remarks of one member on the same subject certainly was no help in promoting good relations between the Council and one of its advisory boards.

Bill Dobler

The case involved was of no significance to the city as a whole, even though highly important to the small number of people it directly involved. But the principles of the case as applied by the Council were the same as many of those in the past which, when added together, have a slow but sure strangling effect.

Action had been requested by the Council on the application of Mrs. Mary A. Heedick for a special use permit to operate a child care center at 927 No. 30th. The City Planning Commission had recommended denial of the application and sent a written report of its action to every Council member.

Then, after hearing verbal arguments on the application from the applicant and objectors, the Council delayed action on the matter so several of its members who had not previously taken the time to do so could go out and view the property concerned.

Councilman Hugh Thorne suggested that it might be better for Council members to make such trips before the Council meets so a decision could be rendered after a hearing was held.

"For us personally," said Thorne, "these matters are of no great importance, but to the people concerned, it is a matter of their livelihood and our decisions should not be needlessly delayed."

Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey took issue with Thorne on the grounds that he did not go out and look at the property because he was not aware of protests to the application. Thorne pushed the matter no further but he could have asked Kinsey several questions. What, for instance, had Kinsey done with the report from the Planning Commission? This report pointed out that there were objections to the application so Kinsey must have either not received one or failed to read it—of which the latter case is most likely.

As another question, Thorne might have asked Kinsey if his only basis for action in such cases is whether or not there are protests to an application. Thorne could probably have told Kinsey that a view of such properties is advantageous not only when there are protests but at all times to determine such things as space requirements for caring for children or old people, proper light and air and a dwelling comparatively safe from fire.

It is doubtful that people like Mrs. Heedick have much use for even a one-week delay when based on such grounds as the Council used last week.

And during the discussion on the Heedick matter, Councilman Rees Wilkinson sarcastically made reference to attendance of meetings by members of the City Planning Commission. Wilkinson would do better before making such remarks to take a look at his own record.

While continually objecting to the commission's acting with members of its group absent

Wilkinson fails dismally to give the commission the type of support which would encourage full commission attendance. It is doubtful if the councilman has backed up the commission in 50 per cent of its recommendations.

Wilkinson is right in that the commission should strive for full attendance at its meetings and should not do business with a minority. But he could do a whole lot more to achieve that end than he is now doing.

With the exception of Mayor Clark Jeary and Thorne, the entire Council seems to pay little attention to what the commission recommends in all matters it approved the new zoning ordinance and has since proceeded to alter it at will, regardless of what the commission said.

Just recently the commission recommended denial of an application for a change from residence to business zoning of property at 10th and H. The commission added, however, that if the Council saw fit to zone the one corner business, it should carry that same zoning all the way up 10th to the central business district to make a comprehensive zoning area.

The Council approved the business zoning for one corner at 10th and H and the action is now being appealed by objectors in District Court. There are many similar cases which, when lumped together, are not conducive to full attendance at commission meetings.

After all, what is the point of the businessmen on the commission taking time out from their work to attend meetings when their batting average before the Council is what it is. Let the Council either disband the commission or pay some attention to what it says.

Resignation In Order

Franklin, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: During the past weeks of the football mess at Nebraska, I have been tempted many times to add my small protest to the tactics used by the righteous triumvirate of Bremser, McBride and Olds, the self-appointed guardians of the football fans of Nebraska who, in their minds, are incapable of analyzing the mediocre record of Coach Glassford for themselves. They succeeded in getting across a smoke-screen of ridicule of our football players, the chancellor, the regents and the Athletic Board, all calculated to camouflage the real issue which is and always has been: "Should the University of Nebraska keep a coach who has had five years of opportunity to produce, and whose record shows some 20 wins, half of which were against Iowa State College, Kansas State College and South Dakota?" This "sacred honor of the university" issue, manufactured by this "Holy Trio," regarding a contract was ridiculous on its face as no coach in the profession has ever considered that angle when he desired to leave a school for his own betterment.

Now that Dave Noble has made his courageous statement, knowing he would be subjected to ridicule, I feel that it is time that he, Gene Kemper of the Alliance Herald, the football boys and our university officials are given some support by the thousands of loyal Nebraska fans who deplore the depths to which once-proud Nebraska has sunk athletically since the Rose Bowl game.

True to the tradition that "the best defense is an offense," I notice that Floyd Olds and Lyle Bremser have immediately started yelling "Resign!" to Dave Noble for expressing his personal opinion of the situation. It is my opinion that the resignations, if any are in order, should be submitted by Bremser, McBride, Olds & Company, and Coach Glassford, as they seem to be the ones running the University of Nebraska on a platform that all contrary opinions are treasonable.

I feel somewhat like the 45 boys who signed the petition asking for Glassford's resignation in expressing my opinion, although the possible loss of a pair of season tickets is not as grave as the possible loss of a scholarship to the boys. I, too, know I will be ridiculed and criticized as being disloyal to my school as the boys were, but I personally feel that the only solution to the situation is Glassford's resignation, and feel that I have a perfect right to express it.

A striking contrast in men appeared in the World-Herald recently. When Charles A. Lindbergh was under fire during World War II, he issued the following statement: "...in view of implications concerning my loyalty to my country, my character,

They succeeded in getting across a smoke-screen of ridicule of our football players, the chancellor, the regents and the Athletic Board, all calculated to camouflage the real issue which is and always has been: "Should the University of Nebraska keep a coach who has had five years of opportunity to produce, and whose record shows some 20 wins, half of which were against Iowa State College, Kansas State College and South Dakota?" This "sacred honor of the university" issue, manufactured by this "Holy Trio," regarding a contract was ridiculous on its face as no coach in the profession has ever considered that angle when he desired to leave a school for his own betterment.

Now that Dave Noble has made his courageous statement, knowing he would be subjected to ridicule, I feel that it is time that he, Gene Kemper of the Alliance Herald, the football boys and our university officials are given some support by the thousands of loyal Nebraska fans who deplore the depths to which once-proud Nebraska has sunk athletically since the Rose Bowl game.

True to the tradition that "the best defense is an offense," I notice that Floyd Olds and Lyle Bremser have immediately started yelling "Resign!" to Dave Noble for expressing his personal opinion of the situation. It is my opinion that the resignations, if any are in order, should be submitted by Bremser, McBride, Olds & Company, and Coach Glassford, as they seem to be the ones running the University of Nebraska on a platform that all contrary opinions are treasonable.

I feel somewhat like the 45 boys who signed the petition asking for Glassford's resignation in expressing my opinion, although the possible loss of a pair of season tickets is not as grave as the possible loss of a scholarship to the boys. I, too, know I will be ridiculed and criticized as being disloyal to my school as the boys were, but I personally feel that the only solution to the situation is Glassford's resignation, and feel that I have a perfect right to express it.

A striking contrast in men appeared in the World-Herald recently. When Charles A. Lindbergh was under fire during World War II, he issued the following statement: "...in view of implications concerning my loyalty to my country, my character, and my motives, I can see no honorable alternative to rendering my resignation."

In my humble opinion, the finest thing Coach Glassford could do for Nebraska football, having been confronted with overwhelming evidence that his own boys don't want him, is to issue the following statement: "...in view of implications concerning my loyalty to my boys, my disposition, and my record, I can see no honorable alternative to rendering my resignation."

Why They Stay Away

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Educators seem reluctant to visit Lincoln at the invitation of the Regents to consider filling the vacancy in the chancellor post.

There is a mess to clean up in the athletic department, and a more refined controversy over graduate degrees. McCarthy would want to investigate their childhood loyalty and "Bricker would insist on Senate confirmation.

The Notebook Says--

OUR Little Red Book is not especially encouraging this morning—it gives us the word that unless we choose to go back and elaborate on some of the week-end activity we may as well go out and have an early breakfast—But it isn't as bad as all that even though the current week isn't sprinkled too generously with sparkling this or that—

Just in passing we might say that the Hawaiian Luau at the University club Saturday evening was a successful innovation — and that we learned that the Saturday Night club's "cruise" party, planned during balmy weather, was fun in spite of winter's surprise visit.

INVOLVED in the week-end survey, also, were some birthday anniversaries — Understand that Mrs. Lane Axtell was down from Omaha Sunday — to extend birthday greetings to her father, Ellery Davis, in person—who was honored at a surprise celebration—the handiwork of Mrs. Shaw who had invited guests for a buffet supper on Sunday evening.

OUR second Sunday birthday celebrant was Norman Shaw

Down from Omaha to attend the party were Mr. and Mrs. John Koffend and Miss Marilyn Morrison.

OF COURSE the week still is young, and it may grow fatter as time goes on—At the moment it is a little on the lean side—too much so for our liking—

But we find that the members of the Circlet Theater board are having a luncheon meeting today at Hotel Cornhusker, and we're guessing that most of the business will concern the Circlet's new building—its remodeling—its needs and so on.

A LITTLE farther down on the calendar we discovered another birthday party—On Friday Mrs. Grace Seely will be a luncheon hostess at Hotel Cornhusker when she honors the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Dana Cole. The guest list will include members of a birthday club.

Had Chapel Wedding

MRS. JAMES BUEL

Arrangements of pink and white gladioli appointed the altar and chancel of Memorial chapel at St. Paul Methodist Church for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Brakke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brakke, and James Buel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Worth Buel of Neosho, Mo., which was solemnized on Friday evening, Feb. 19.

Dr. Frank Court read the lines of the double ring ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Houghton Furr, organist.

Miss Phyllis Brown, the maid of honor, and the bride's two sisters, Mrs. Louis Rodman of Beaver City and Mrs. Herbert Ringerberg, as bridesmaids, wore alike frocks of pink net and lace over matching taffeta, and carried bouquets of pink and white hyacinths.

Harlan King served Mr. Buel

as best man, and the guests were seated by Louis Rodman and George Richard of Ceresco.

The bride appeared in a gown of imported Chantilly lace over satin. The long-sleeved bodice was snugly fitted and narrowed to a deep Elizabethan point at the waist. Natural scalloped lace bordered the voluminous, danceuse-length skirt. Her double-tiered, waist-length veil was held to the head with a Juliet cap banded in satin, and she carried a bouquet of white hyacinths centered with white orchids.

Following a reception in the church parlors Mr. Buel and his bride left for a short honeymoon trip after which they will return to Lincoln to reside.

Mrs. Buel is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Towne Club.

Nehru To Ask Indo-China 'Cease-Fire'

Plan Said A 'Trial Balloon'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—The Indian delegation at the United Nations indicated Sunday that Prime Minister Nehru will urge both sides in the Indo-China War to consider a cease-fire and stop "further useless killing" in view of the forthcoming Geneva conference.

The Indian delegation stressed that the prime minister in his statement before Parliament in New Delhi Monday is not intervening personally in Indo-China with a concrete cease-fire plan.

However, Nehru hopes that his suggestion will turn the attention of the French and of Red Guerrilla Chief Ho Chi Minh to the possibility of ending the shooting before the Geneva parity begins on April 26.

At U.N. the renewed activities by New Delhi was looked upon as a "Nehru trial balloon" to which are attached his hope for recovering the prestige he lost on the Korean issue.

The parliamentary statement is looked upon primarily as a come-on tactic and Nehru's signal to the French and Ho Chi Minh that he is available as a mediator in cease-fire efforts.

It is conceded by U.N. diplomats that any such success on Nehru's part would almost surely force the western powers to give him a seat at the Geneva conference in one capacity or another.

French Planes Hit Red Troops Again

HANOI, Indo-China (P)—French war planes continued their assault on Communist-led Vietnamese troops hemming the Union Fortress of Dien Bien Phu in northwest Indo-China for the 65th straight day Sunday.

The planes strafed and fire-bombed Vietnamese entrenchments two to three miles northeast of the dust bowl fortress as the Reds continued to lug arms and ammunition up to their hill positions.

French ground patrols fanning out from the fortress were unable to engage the rebels, who have menaced Dien Bien Phu for three months without striking.

NU Collegiate Band Gives First Concert

The newly-organized University of Nebraska Collegiate Band presented its first concert Sunday afternoon. The band, directed by Jack Snider, instructor of brass instruments and theory, was organized because of the great number of students wanting to participate in band activities. The University still has its Symphonic Band directed by Prof. Donald Lentz. The new Collegiate Band has taken the place of the Brass Choir, which previously took care of the overflow of student musicians. The University now has places for 180 students in its bands compared with 100 to 120 in past years. (Star Photo.)

Despite 'Social Call,' Diers Defends Pen Trusty System

W. H. Diers, member of the State Board of Control, said John A. Rogers, Omaha, State Penitentiary trusty who took time out on a work trip to Lincoln to call on a girl friend, would have to pay the penalty for his violation. But he said that an individual infraction would not alter his views on the prison's present policy toward the institution's 215 trusties.

"Prison rules governing the activities of a trusty do not include privileges for social excursions or entertainment," he said. "Rogers will have to pay the price for his violation. But his case is an individual matter. His punishment should not reflect against the others who were not guilty of violation."

Diers defended the Nebraska Penitentiary's trusty policy.

"It is a privilege that is earned by a record of good and reliable behavior. A small number of violations can be expected but they are not an indictment of the system," he said.

"Dual Problem"

"We have the dual problem of rehabilitating men in preparation for the day they will be released. And we have a work need. It doesn't make sense that we should hire outsiders for work that trusties can and are willing to perform."

Most of the 215 trusties he explained are assigned to duties inside the penitentiary or on its farm. Some, accompanied by guards, occasionally go elsewhere on work assignments or make work trips to Lincoln.

"We do not condone laxity either on the part of the guards or the trusties," he said.

Punishment for infractions Diers said generally includes forfeiture of privileges, which are difficult to earn back.

Asked why Rogers' trip to Lincoln Saturday was connected with buying butter when the state penitentiary maintains a dairy herd, Diers explained that no butter is made at the prison farm. Officials purchase it for their own use in Lincoln.

"All of the milk handled at the prison dairy goes to supply the state institutions in Lincoln, the orthopedic hospital, the state prison, the reformatory and the state hospital for the insane," he said.

Volunteer workers, soliciting Red Cross donations and memberships in the current Lancaster County rural drives, will be guests at a final report rally dinner Thursday at the Scottish Rite Temple.

Red Cross Canteen women will prepare and serve the dinner.

Captains and solicitors will report on contributions and memberships at the rally, which will climax the drive.

Richard Lefferdink and Albert Francke, co-chairmen of the drive, reported that early captains' returns indicate a good response toward the drive's $3,985 goal. The goal is the same as the 1953 goal. Last year, collections were $3 short of meeting the goal.

Marilyn's Dress 'Gave Beyond, Above Duty Call'

TOKYO (Monday) (P)—Marilyn Monroe and her somewhat dour husband, Joe DiMaggio, returned to Tokyo today almost unnoticed by hundreds of Japanese at the airport.

The Japanese were more interested in watching an American-style wrestling match on TV in the airport terminal.

This is the same airport where the DiMaggios were nearly mobbed on their arrival from the United States three weeks ago.

This time they came from Kobe where DiMaggio and Lefty O'Doul have been coaching Japanese baseball players. "Best baseball school ever held," the Nipponese sports writers said.

Marilyn is back from a rave tour of Korea entertaining American troops. She said she plans to retire the clinging purple dress she wore on her Korean appearances.

"That dress," she said, "gave above and beyond the call of duty."

Nebraska's Cornhuskers of the maples, caught in an avalanche of five straight Big Seven defeats, will attempt to regain their footing tonight against Dr. Phog Allen's league-leading Kansas unit at the Coliseum.

Presently riding a three-game victory streak in Lincoln and racing in tandem with Colorado atop the loop standings at 8-1, the Jayhawks will be ready favorites.

The impact of the game on the standings, plus the colorful bench gyrations of the Phogger, has caused a sell-out of all reserved seats. General admission and student tickets are still available according to A. J. Lewandowski, director of admissions.

Since they were merrily riding herd on the conference with a

The hunt for an athletic director at the University of Nebraska will continue this week, according to Dr. Walter K. Beggs, chairman of the Athletic Board.

Two candidates were interviewed over the week end. They were Paul Amen, former Cornhusker all-around athlete and now head baseball coach at West Point, and Bill Orwig, assistant football coach at Michigan.

"We plan to interview more men before narrowing the field," announced Dr. Beggs. He declined naming any future candidates, but said that the press would be allowed an interview when the prospect arrived in Lincoln.

Both Amen and Orwig indicated they would accept the Husker position if it is offered.

On the football front, there was an announcement from Coach Bill Glassford that the annual Alumni game would be replaced by an intra-squad game at termination of spring drills. The spring sessions will start March 1, a month earlier than usual, Glassford said. The drills will end March 27 in time for candidates to report for other spring sports.

Amen Silent After Talk With Regents

OMAHA (U-P)—Paul Amen, former University of Nebraska athlete, emerged from an hour-long session Sunday with the University of Nebraska Board of Regents light-lipped about what had gone on.

The West Point baseball coach and football assistant said he and the Regents made "no commitments whatsoever" regarding a possible offer of the Cornhusker post of athletic director.

Amen said "I'm very much interested in the athletic set-up at my old school and I follow it closely as possible," adding that he and football coach Bill Glassford are friends.

"I always drop in for a visit with Bill when I'm in his neighborhood," Amen added.

Amen was interviewed by the Athletic Board Saturday in Lincoln along with Bill Orwig, assistant football coach at the University of Michigan. Orwig met with the Regents here Saturday.

"I don't know what they are hinking or what their plan is in connection with the hiring of an athletic director," Amen said, declining to say whether he would take the job if it were offered.

The University has been seeking in athletic director to succeed George (Potsy) Clark, who resigned.

Chadron and Hastings must face each other in a two-game set Friday and Saturday. Chadron must win at least one to get that playoff spot and Hastings will probably have to win two.

The race for second place could very well end in a four-way tie among Kearney, Chadron, Hastings and Wayne. If this happens, a selection committee will name the representatives.

In Central Church College Conference action, Concordia can assure itself of at least a tie for the title by beating Dana at Blair Saturday. The final SJC games have Fairbury at Luther and Scottsbluff at McCook.

'53 10-Pin Champs Will Defend Titles

Champions in the men's State Bowling Tournament team and a handful of divisions will be on hand to defend their crowns in this year's tourney slated to begin Friday at the Lincoln and Rose-wilde Parlors.

Tourney Secretary Bernie Kossek has announced the registration of the Fuchs Machinery team and Marty Goff of Omaha, 1933 team and singles crownholders.

They will defend their titles in what should be the biggest Capital City state tournament in history, according to Kossek. This year's meet will be run Feb. 27-28, March 6-7, 13-14, 20-21 and 27-28.

The veteran professional came into No. 18 with the Texas Open's largest gallery in history—12,000—crowded around the green and had a 12-foot putt for a birdie that would have given him the national record. Te puffed six inches short.

His great 189 for the last three rounds bettered any performance for 54 holes. Palmer registered 191 to crack the mark set by Nelson at Seattle in 1945 and tied by Ben Hogan at Greenbrier course, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., six years later.

College Teams Shooting For Tournament Berths

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as April showers bring May flowers, February victories bring March tournament trips for college basketball teams.

Five front-running teams kept that in mind Saturday night while keeping the Southeastern, southwest and Big Seven Conference races tightly deadlocked. If this keeps up, some of the conferences may be forced to play-offs to determine the league winners and conference representatives in the national collegiate basketball championships.

Louisiana State, for example, continued its perfect record in the SEC by whipping Auburn 75-59 behind the scoring of big Bob Pettit. The 6-11 star's 31 points gave him a conference season record of 594 and LSU a 10-0 mark compared to Kentucky's 11-0. It looks like both will continue unbeaten in the conference.

Kentucky, ranked second nationally in the latest Associated Press poll, rolled to its 21st victory without defeat by beating DePaul 76-61 in what was supposed to be a tough test. The Wildcats survived the loss on fouls of both Lou Tsiropoulos and Frank Ramsey, two of their senior stars.

Rice trimmed Arkansas 76-62 while Texas was beating Baylor 78-53, continuing their deadlock atop the Southwest Conference standings with 7-2 record. The team don't meet again.

In the Big Seven Conference, defending champion Kansas maintained its first place tie with Colorado's surprising sophomores by scoring a 78-72 victory over Iowa State to match Colorado's 83-58 triumph over Nebraska. Both are 8-1 in the conference and Colorado, which topped Kansas on its home floor, visits Kansas March 1.

Colorado, like Kentucky, also went well after its senior stalwart, Burdette Halderson, had to retire because of fouls late in the third quarter.

Whitfield Cleared OnExpenseCharge

NEW YORK (AP) — Mal Whitfield, Olympic 800-meter champion, charged with demanding excessive expenses, was cleared of suspicion by the Amateur Athletic Union Sunday, but four other American runners were barred from foreign competition for one year.

A special committee, headed by Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former national AAU president, found Whitfield innocent of any wrongdoing. Because of the charges, Whitfield's name was dropped from the Sullivan Award ballot this year.

Sim Innis of Southern California; J. W. Mashburn of Oklahoma A. and M.; Parry O'Brien, the world shot-put champion from Los Angeles, and Wes Santee, Kansas' great miler, were set down for "breaking training and curfew rules."

The report did not elaborate on the reason for the suspension other than to say that most of the rules were broken in Sweden last summer.

A separate statement was made regarding Whitfield.

"The special committee appointed finds that the charges against Malvin G. Whitfield have not been established either by the evidence on hand in December or by any additional evidence recently presented."

Whitfield was accused of demanding $200 to run in a meet in Sweden and an additional $100 if he broke a record. The accusation was made by a Swedish newspaperman and relayed through the Swedish counterpart of the AAU.

He also was under suspicion because of reports he had demanded a camera worth $250 and asked excessive travel expenses to The Washington Star meet last year.

Martin Leaves, Coleman Back; Loop Screams 'Stengel Luck'

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — You can hear the walls of anguish from every bypath and hamlet along the American League trail; the plaintive beat of the down-trodden to whom the word "Yankee" is distasteful, not to say repugnant.

"Stengel Luck" will be the general interpretation of the lament. "We lose a regular and we have nobody to replace him. Casey loses a regular, and he not only has a man just as good to take his place, but is relieved of the problem of trying to decide what to do with two stars at the same position."

All this can be traced to the news that Second Baseman Billy Martin has been classified 1-A in the draft almost simultaneously with the return of Gerry Coleman, the second baseman Martin replaced when Coleman left to rejoin the Marines May 1, 1952.

Call it poetic justice, this return of Coleman to replace the man who replaced him. Call it the kindly hand of fate touching a man who was shorn of two of his peak baseball years to fly the skies over Korea, and now returns to resume his job without a struggle.

Whatever you call it, the situation offers an amazing sequence of coincidences. It would have been strange enough if the two players involved just happened to be on the same team. That they play the same position on the same team, and their arrivals and departures dovetail so perfectly, well, it's preposterous, that's what it is.

And as an added dash of spice

Comeback Battle Completed By Babe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ten months after her winning battle with cancer, Babe Zaharias hit another high spot in her fabulous career Sunday when she whipped Patty Berg in an exciting stretch run for the championship of the $5,000 Sebring Women's Golf Tournament.

The victory was a fine climax to The Babe's great comeback. It was her first tournament triumph since the operation last April in a hospital in Beaumont, Tex., where she started the career that won her acclaim as the greatest woman athlete of the century.

Moving ahead of Miss Berg with consecutive birdies on Nos. 13 and 14, The Babe hung on against growing exhaustion to post a one-stroke victory for the 6,282-yard Daphne course with a 74 for a 72-hole total of 294. Miss Berg took a 75 in the final round for 295.

"I guess I'll have to call this the biggest thrill of my life," the tired Babe declared as she walked slowly away from the last green. "I didn't think I would ever win another one."

$200 Tax Exemption Hike Urged

Sen. Douglas Asks Ike To Reconsider

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) appealed to President Eisenhower Sunday to reconsider his tax proposals in order "to prevent the recession from deepening into a depression."

Douglas urged the President to support a $200 increase in personal income tax exemptions this year to give the taxpayers an estimated $4½ billion additional for spending.

He also asked for selective decreases in taxes on consumer goods excise taxes to stabilize the economy.

Douglas made his proposals in a detailed letter to the President, copies of which were sent to reporters.

"There may be some opposition in the ranks of your own party," Douglas wrote, "but we Democrats, I believe, will provide the force you need to enact such revisions just as we have helped to provide the necessary support for the main line of your foreign policies."

Douglas' tax proposals were similar to those offered last week by Sen. George (D-Ga.) former chairman of the Finance Committee, who asked that personal income tax exemptions be upped from $600 to $800 in 1954 and to $1,000 in 1955 and succeeding years.

Douglas said he agreed with George "that the situation calls for tax relief for the millions of individual taxpayers, and an expansion of purchasing power."

Douglas told the President that George's "competence as a tax authority commands the most serious consideration of his views." He said he was appealing directly to the President because Republicans on the congressional Joint Economic Committee "seemed to have little sympathy" for the proposals.

From Lincoln Pulpits:

Christ's Love For Men All Inclusive—Rev. Stilwell

There are no exceptions to Christ's love for all men, the Rev. James Stilwell, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, said Sunday morning.

"Christ did not tell us to love those men who have the same color and creed as we have," he said. "We are expected to pattern our own lives by His example."

The Rev. Mr. Stilwell said the goal of Brotherhood Week might be summed up as "Love Thy Neighbor."

"In attempting to define the terms used in this brief command, we find that Christ, in the parable of the Good Samaritan, showed that a man's neighbor is every other human being in the world," he said. "And the Christian love of which we speak is to hear other men good will in every thing we do and say."

Men must constantly strive for the good for others and must not intentionally bring them any harm by word or by deed, he said.

"Our Lord taught that this commandment must still govern our actions even when those toward whom we have borne good will have harmed us," he said. "Each time we say the Lord's Prayer we ask God to forgive us in the same way and to the same extent that we forgive those who harm us, so we must forgive if we expect to be forgiven."

Forgiveness, he said, means complete erasure in the same way that men ask God to blot out their own sins.

Temple Baptist

The Lord's upper presupposes and implies faith, especially in the deity of Christ, Dr. Leslie E. Thomas told his congregation at Temple Baptist Church Sunday morning.

The Lord's Supper, he said, sets forth the death of Christ as the sustaining power of the believer's life as it symbolizes the death of Christ for man's sins.

"The Lord's Supper is the standing witness, voiced by Jesus himself, that He regarded His death as the very center of His work," he said, "and that He regarded it not merely as a martyrdom, but as a sacrifice by which He put away sins forever."

It symbolizes man's personal appropriation of the benefits of His death, Dr. Thomas said. The method of this appropriation is symbolized through union with Christ Himself, he said.

"It symbolizes the continuous dependence of the believer for all spiritual life upon the once crucified, now living, Saviour to whom he is thus united," he said. "It symbolizes the sanctification of the Christian through a spiritual reproduction in him of the death and resurrection of the Lord."

The Lord's Supper also symbolizes the consequent union of Christians in Christ, Dr. Thomas said. The symbolism of the coming joy and perfection of the Kingdom of God is also found, he said.

"Thus it brings before us not simply death, but life; not simply past sacrifice, but future glory," he said.

Federal School Add Here Won't Lift Tax Burden

While Superintendent of schools Steven N. Watkins feels chances are good of Lincoln receiving aid for school construction because of federally-connected students in the system, new student population will still mean more money out taxpayers' pockets in the future.

Watkins conferred last week with Nebraska congressional representatives and officers of the U.S. Office of Education, Sens. Hugh Butler and Dwight Griswold and Reps. Roman Hruska and Robert Harrison said they would help all they could, Watkins reported, in securing passage of legislation which would assure Lincoln the aid it is seeking.

The present law under which cities receive such aid expires June 30.

"We were told," said Watkins, "that we could apply for aid now in anticipation of the federal-enrolled students that will be enrolled as of June 30. However, unless additional funds are appropriated, there will be no money to meet Lincoln's request."
